

30th Urban Archaeology Conference in Ribe, 22-23 May 2017

Venue: Kannikegården, Ribe Cathedral

Landscapes of the Dead

– Life and Death in Pagan and Christian Ribe, 8th-18th C Current approaches to the study of burial and human skeletons

University of Southern Denmark and Museum of South West Jutland have conducted a research project, Life and death in Ribe between the 9th and 19th C. (1000 års mennesker) funded by the Velux Foundation. Different work packages executed by researchers based in archaeology, physical anthropology and archaeochemistry focused on excavated churchyards in Ribe and the life and death of the people buried there.

This year's Urban Archaeology conference presents some of the exciting results along with other innovative studies from the ever-widening field of the natural sciences and their application in archaeology.

Join the conference and see what is new.

Topics

- ❖ Contextual and stratigraphic analysis of urban graveyards
- ❖ Isotope analysis and carbon dating on human bone
- ❖ Death in emporia: Ribe's pagan grave field
- ❖ Cemeteries as meaningful and sacred landscapes

Practical info

30th Urban Archaeology Conference in Ribe, 22-23 May 2017

Price, meals, accommodation on Danhostel Ribe

- Conference fee, all meals included, two-bed room: 1550 Dkr.
 - Conference fee, all meals included, Single-bed room: 1650 Dkr.
 - Conference fee, all meals included, no accommodation: 1050 Dkr
 - Conference fee, no meals, (Student option): 250 Dkr
- Vegetarian food optional

If you wish to participate in the conference, please send an email to Morten Søvsø, mosvs@sydvestjyskemuseer.dk no later than 3 May 2017. Please include billing info: Name, department, address, email, EAN-nr (optional) and food preferences/allergies.

Full programme and abstracts will be placed on the museum website <http://sydvestjyskemuseer.dk>

The conference is organised by Morten Søvsø, Dorthe Dangvard Pedersen and Lilian Skytte.

For further information, please contact Morten Søvsø, Sydvestjyske Museer, Tangevej 6, 6760 Ribe, mobile: +45 51684108.

Kannikegården.

Burial excavated at Kannikegården.

