

Paper

Survey for Submerged Stone Age Landscapes - Technologies and Methods

Ole Grøn

Abstract

The presentation underlines the importance of archaeology's ability to map the localities and zones to be protected/investigated under water.

Accordingly it assesses the techniques and methods today applied to survey for submerged Stone Age landscapes, predictive modelling as well as the different acoustic methods.

Furthermore it points out some new possibilities.

Ole Grøn, dr.

Maritime Archaeology, SDU Esbjerg, Denmark